EXCULPATING THE WOMAN. ALL THE BLAME CAST ON POTTER.

MR. RIGBY, THE ARTIST, EXPLAINS MORE FULLY THE ALLEGED PLAN TO BLACKMAIL HIM.

The alleged blackmailing scheme of which Bernham Rigby, the artist, of Union Square and Sixteenth-st., says he narrowly escaped being the victim, turns out by Mr. Rigby's own admission to be a rather one-sided affair. As was published in The Tribune yesterday the artist caused the arrest of James Br. . Potter, a soliciting agent for the crayon artist firm of Rigby & Granger, on a charge of embezzlement and forgery. nd incidentally also accused Potter of attempting blackmail, with the assistance of his wife. Potter is now, after a hearing before Justice White, locked p in Jefferson Market Prison on the charge first mentioned. The story of blackmail, as told by Mr. Rigby originally, undoubtedly implicated Mrs. Potter, but the artist now denies any intention of accusing the

A Tribune reporter yesterday afternoon found Mrs. Potter at her boarding-house, No. 155 West Fifteenth st. She is a tall, handsome, well-formed woman of nty-eight, and was greatly surprised when she saw an article charging her with having planned igby's ruin in complicity with her husband. She had not heard of that part of the story. Thereupon she told the following history of the case. "I have been married to Mr. Potter just fifteen months. I met him one night in a Sixth-ave. restaurant By weeks of entreaty and by representing himself to be the wealthy partner of the straw-hat manufacturers, Sears & Potter, then of Forty-seventh-st., he prevailed upon me to marry him. We were married one afteron in March, 1887, in the Church of the Holy Transfiguration, by Dr. Houghton.

The day after, I went to Sears & Potter's place of brother of a member of the firm he had not a cent of interest in it and had been discharged for drunkenness from a position as order clerk. then I have spent $600 for his board alone and he has caused me much other expense. Later he went to work for Rigby & Granger, as a solititor, but indulged In more of his drunken sprees. He left me for weeks at a time and I frequently called on Mr. Rigby to discass with him my husband's worthless life. 'On Sun day night I went to the studio and found Mr. Rigby He talked to me a moment and then ex cused himself, in order, as he said, to wash his hands I remained in the studio, and after a few minutes the theor opened and I was confronted by Mr. Rigby, my husband and an officer. Mr. Rigby said to Mr. Potter 'Here is your wife. Now say to her what you want My husband had nothing to say, but went down Mrs. Potter, after telling her story, invited the reporter to accompany her to Mr. Rigby's studio. Upon arrival there Mr. Rigby cheerfully acknowledged that Mrs. Potter was innocent of any complicity in the blackmail. He stated that he now that Potter followed his wife to the studio only by a psculfar coincidence. Officer Lang had been in the building accidentally, and under an impulse Rigby had asked him to stay around. While he, Rigby, was washing his hands there was door and when the rap was responded to the artist found it was Potteg. The latter first asked forgiveness, but ended by asking Rigby whether he knew where Mrs. Potter was. Righy at once called the officer and asked him to open the studio door, disclosing Mrs. Potter. Then the surprise came. Potter made no accusations then and there but went Mrs. Potter left the place soon after, and the arrest was not made until Potter sent up a letter by the watchman of the building. The letter read: Mr. Righy: I have long suspected you and my wife

I doubted the fidelity of my wife for a long time, but now I know she has been natrue to me. She acknewledged it herself only last Thursday night. I will go to court and expose you both unless you do something. You have rulned me, and driven me to hell. God curse you JAMES B. POTTER.

Righy at once sent Officer Lang after Potter, who had just left the door and started across Union Square. After a short chase, the agrest was made. Mr. Right ended his story before Mrs. Potter by saying that he now believed that Potter, knowing his wife was in the studio, improved the opportunity to fry blackmail. James B. Potter is well-connected, and besides the mother in the firm of Sears & Potter has brothers in mesons in Philadelphia.

ALDERMEN LOADED FOR BEAR.

A LIVELY TIME EXPECTED AT THE MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL TO-DAY.

A lively meeting of the Board of Aidemen may be expected to-day. It is understood that Alderman Mooney remains firm in his intention to demand the appointment of a committee of investigation as to the charges which have been made against the alleged "combine" in the matter of the Fourt's Avenue electric motor, and that he will follow up his resolution with a speech of unexampled ficreeness and vigor. Whether there will be anything left of Alderman Coulding and his conditions, Messrs, Storm, Fitzsimons and Rinch-hoff, of the Railroad Committee, after the doughty Colonel gets through with them, is a mooted question Alderman Dowling has so far refused so say what he means to do, but the impression prevails that he is leaded up with a philippic on the subject, in which he will make his hearers thoroughly aware of what he knows about electricity. e Aldermen who have furnished the data upon which the charges are said to be founded, do not seem to be frightened at the prospect and will be likely to stand their ground. The motor question will come us in the regular order of unfinished business, and to gether with the tunnel scheme and the College Point ferry allegations, will furnish material for a fierce de-Some anxiety is expressed at Mr. Divver's He has not been present at the two former meetings when the motor was on the carpet.

Assistant District-Attorney Parker, who has charge of the alleged Aldermanic "boodle" cases, will submit the evidence in his possession to the Special Grand Jury to-morrow. Whether this fact will have the effect of modifying the orations to be delivered to-day, remains to be seen.

THE DEAD WIRES OUGHT TO COME DOWN.

MAYOR HEWITT SPURS ON GENERAL NEWTON TO THE TASK OF REMOVING TREM.

missioner of Public Works, yesterday, on the subject of the unused electric light wires in the city. After quoting from a printed statement of William L. Strong. president of the Brush Electric Light Company, asserting that the dead wire in New-York, abandoned by the telegraph and telephone companies when they ially adopted the underground system, is estimated at 10,000 miles, ruuch of which is dangerous, and that many of the recent accidents have been due to the existence of this wire in our streets, Mr. Hewitt says

If the above statement of Mr. Strong be correctly reported, it will be proper for you, as it seems to me, to cause an examination to be made and to remove all the dead wires from the public streets. If the owners can be found, they ought to be made to pay the expense, but if not it will properly be chargeable to the fund for removing encumbrances from the streets. It seems to me that by communication with the electric light companies who are engaged in lighting the city a report could be promptly secured as to the dead wires within their several areas of contract. I invite your early attention to this matter, as it seems to be one of the consequences of the inconsiderate action of the Board of Electrical Control, for which no provision has been made, and which, therefore, must come under the general control

But for the errors of Ward the game of basebal at the Polo Grounds yesterday would have been a contest worth going some distance to sec. The game was between the New-York and Chicago clubs, and was witnessed by 5,040 people. Many brilliant plays were made, while the pitching of Welch and Krock was unusually effective. Many people who watch the records of the local players closely are of the opinion that Ward's health would be greatly benefited if a vacation of a week or two were given him. Hatfield could attend to his position creditably until his cturn. Gore should also have a vacation, but it should last not less than six months. Foster could attend to Gore's work. The Chicago men won yesfer-day by bunching their few hits and by splendid field-In the eighth inning it looked like a victory for New-York, and probably would have been but for a remarkable throw from outfield by Farrell. Counor, O'Rourke and Gore have apparently forgotten what bats are made for.

The New-Yorkers got one run in the fifth toning, and the on-lookers appeared relieved. Slattery made a hit, got to third on a wild pitch, and scored on Richardson's out to Ryan. Then the spectators looked annoyed again when the Chicago players added two more runs to their score in their half of the fifth inning. Daly got to first on a fumble by Ward and in's second three-bagger to left field. Farrell got to first on an error by Connor, and Ryan The New-York players made three timely hits in the seventh inning and scored two runs. A TOUNG SINGER'S FIRST APPEARANCE HERE. The large banquet hall of the Hoffman House was filled with a large and fashionable audience yesterday afternoon to greet Mile. de Nogueiras, the daughter of Viscount de Negueiros, formerly Portuguese Minister to Washington, on the occasion of her first public appearance as a stager in this city. Mile, de Nogueiras, whose father died in Washington last winter, has adopted music as a profession, and made her debut in "Lucia" at Milan last winter, on the evening before her father died. Her stage name is Mile. Marcello. She sang yesterday a canzonetta, arranged from Haydn by Pauline Viardot, her vocal in-structor; the "Voi che sopete nozze di Figaro," by Mozart; an air from "Le Cid"; a cavatina from "Lucia;" one of Chopin's mazurkus arranged by Viardot; and "J'eu Mourai," by Pauline Visidot, and in response to encores sang "Trust her not," and repeated the "J'eu Mourgi." The audience was evidently delighted with her voice and execution, and greeted her with enthusiastic applatuse on each appearance. She will remain in New-York a short time, and soon returns to Europe to fill engagements at Paris and Genoa. She was assisted yesterday by Adolph Glose, planist, and Arthur Joseph, baritone Among those who were present were Mrs. Hicks Lord, Mrs. J. D. ### A SALE OF HISTORIC GROUND.

Another old landmark of American history passed under the auctioneer's hammer yesterday at the Real Estate Exchange, to disappear in blocks and lots. On October 28, 1776, Washington, having executed his celebrated flank movement whereby he withdrew his army from the danger of being surrounded by the British general, Howe, made the Franklin farm his headquarters during the battle of White Plains and it directed the movements which preceded and showed that event. The farmhouse itself has long since disappeared but the stone steps still remain between Prospect and Garden aves. The Franklin family sold the farm to Mr. Duncan, from whom it passed into the hands of John B. Dunham, the plane manufacturer. It was recently purchased by B. F. Fair child, the present owner. You can keep the Baby's Skin as soft and smooth as velvet by using CORNELL'S BENZOIN COSMETIC S OAP.

The close of the college year has released from study many a young man and maiden to whom these summer days and nights are a perpetual delight. We toilers of the city can't help envying the fellows who, donning flannel shirts and "Blazers." now revel in rural rusticity. We needn't complain, however, for with clear consciences and cool clothes men may enjoy life even in the city.

Speaking of cool clothes reminds us that white waistcoats are again in vogue. We have several qualities, plain and fancy, $2.50 to $5, all freshly made this season. Besides these we have about one thousand made last year that we're going to pitch overboard. All kinds, plain white Duck, plain brown linen, fancy figured, &c.—not many of a kind. All UNEXCELLED sizes. Even some extra large oneshey were $2, $3, $4 and $5 vests. hey go to-day for One Dollar each.
